DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This is a two and one half story frame house with a hip roof and center chimney. On the front is a fairly large gabled dormer with a double window and imbricated shingle in the dormer. There are two bays on the front, plus another bay in a one story wing on the south side. This wing has a flat roof with a ballustrade. In front of the front door, is a flat roofed portico supported by Doric columns. There is a gable on the north side of the house, a dormer on the south side. Also on the south side, beyond the one story addition, is a two story polygonal bay window with a gable above.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house is not particularly significant from an architectural viewpoint. It is compatible with the character of Mill Street, however, which possesses many late 19th century homes of architectural interest, and a few large and ornate early 20th century homes.

118 Mill Street

This house was built in 1909 by Calvin Harrington. Although not historically or architecturally significant in itself, it remains a good example of an early twentieth century middle-class residence. Along with the many other houses of the period 1890-1914, it contributes to the distinctive character of Mill Street.
